Brief bio: Nancy, started her career as a theater director and was invited to direct a play in Prague in the 1990s. She founded an English language theater company in the Czech Republic. When productions started to shoot in Prague, Nancy was immediately on demand to source local talent and discovered a new career as a casting director, starting with local casting and expanding to international. She is an established casting director in London where she spends most of her time since 2015, while retaining and office in Prague as well.
